For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Agricultural.

UTILITY OF FALL PLOUGHING FOR INDIAN CORN.

A member of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Society communicates the following through the Philadelphia Gazette:

"Cut-Worm.—A gentleman from Morrisville, who cultivates a large farm in the neighborhood of that place, was induced by the communication of the president of the Agricultural Society, recommending fall ploughing to plough up, during last autumn, the ground in which he has now planted Indian corn. He has, at this time, a field of twenty acres and upwards, and, almost without a single exception, not a hill of the corn has been attacked by the grub or cut worm. An adjoining field, which, for some years past, has undergone the same course of crops, composed of the same soil, and having precisely the same exposure, has been planted with corn on the sod ploughed up this spring. The crop in this field has been twice cut off by the worm, and is now, after a third planting, almost entirely destroyed. These facts, which fully establish the usefulness of fall ploughing for corn, may be seen by any one who may be passing along the turnpike road, about one mile and a half from the Trenton Bridge. It may be fully asserted, that in four instances out of five, the fields of corn for which the ground was ploughed early in the fall of 1816, have escaped injury from this destructive enemy, and that in all cases great advantages have resulted from the practice."

[A gentleman of this city particularly corroborates the truth of the above remarks. On old ground, his corn wholly escaped the worm; while on a large field, directly adjoining, of sward ground, it was almost entirely destroyed.]

[Ed. Portland Argus.

TO FARMERS.

The practice of sowing wheat on a clover sod, with one ploughing, has been much recommended, both in England and the United States, as being attended with complete success in raising good crops, and also improving the lands: but some farmers, in trying the experiment, have failed altogether, by ploughing too shallow, by which the grass and weeds ahead choak up the wheat. Let not this be a discouragement; but rather try it again in a proper manner. Turn down the sod, whether it be clover, timothy, or herd grass, with a good plough and a strong team, so deep as completely to prevent their growing to the injury of the crop.—The field may be broken up in the 8th month, the manure spread on immediately, and well harrowed in; and then, in proper season, cross-ploughed lightly, and sown about a bushel to the acre.

By this management the wheat grows well in the fall, and generally produces a good crop of clean grain at harvest.

NOTE. The more grass is turned down the better, provided it be well covered. [Philad. paper.

NEW PRODUCT FROM POTATOES.

An apothecary in Amiens has just obtained a new and very lucrative product from potatoes, in burning the stalks and leaves of the plant, to extract the potash, which it contains in abundance. This method consists in cutting the plant just when the flower begins to wither—at which time the stalk is in full vigor. He cuts them five inches from the ground with a very sharp instrument. The stumps left soon push forth new shoots, which suffice to bring the roots to maturity. The plants cut down are left upon the field eight days to dry them properly. They are then burnt as the manufacturers of soda burn the kali, in a hole five feet in diameter and two feet deep, washing the ashes and evaporating the ley.—By this process 2,500 pounds weight of salt is obtained per acre. The author of this process calculates than an acre of potatoes, deducting the expenses of cultivation, will produce potatoes to the value of 225 francs; and in salt, deducting the expenses of manufacturing, 168 francs—in all 393 francs. ALEXANDRIA:
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1817.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

Monday, Dec. 1, 1817.

This being the day of commencement of the first session of the Fifteenth Congress of the United States, the House of Representatives presented a fuller assembly of members from all parts of the union, than those who have for years been in the habit of attending Congress, remember to have seen collected on the first day of any past session. Out of one hundred and eighty-four (the whole number of Representatives elected to serve in Congress) one hundred and fifty were present. There being thus a quorum, with something to spare, the House proceeded to effect its organization for the prosecution of business in the customary form. Mr. Clay was elected Speaker, by a majority little short of an unanimous suffrage, having, out of 150 votes, no less than 143—while Mr. Samuel Smith, of Baltimore, had only 6: for it seems that one mysterious voice gave in its vote for—Nobody—or for Blank.

Mr. Clay having taken the chair, returned his acknowledgments to the House in terms which we will not presume to repeat with confidence, because they were delivered in so low a voice, that we could not distinctly hear them. It costs us nothing, however, to suppose that they were appropriate, judicious and impressive.—They will probably appear in a day or two upon the journals; and then they shall be presented to the reader.

All the former officers, clerk, serjeant at arms, door-keepers, &c. were unanimously reappointed. Mr. Dougherty was re-elected clerk, by ballot, without one dissentient voice.

A motion was made to fix the hour of daily meeting at 11 o'clock; but an amendment to make it 12, was offered and carried; so that henceforward the House will meet every day at 12, until further order to the contrary.

The House then adjourned to to-morrow—of course at 12 o'clock.

The following is a literal transcript of Mr. Clay's address to the House:

"If we consider, gentlemen, the free and illustrious origin of this assembly—the extent and magnitude of the interests committed to its charge, and the brilliant prospects of the rising confederacy, whose destiny may be materially affected by the legislation of Congress...the House of Representatives justly ranks amongst the most eminent deliberative bodies that have existed. To be appointed to preside at its deliberations, is an exalted honor, of which I entertain the highest sense, and I pray you to accept for the flattering manner in which you have conferred it, my profound acknowledgments.

"If I bring into the chair, gentlemen, the advantage of some experience of its duties, far from inspiring me with undue confidence, that experience serves only to fill me with distrust of my own capacity. I have been taught by it how arduous those duties are, and how unavailing would be any efforts of mine to discharge them, without the liberal support and cheering countenance of the House. I shall anxiously seek gentlemen, to merit that support and countenance, by an undeviating aim at impartiality, and at the preservation of that decorum, without the observance of which, the public business must be ill transacted, and the dignity and character of the House seriously impaired."

Washington, December 2.

The Congress met yesterday, under auspices as favorable, political and personal, as could be wished by the most sanguine friend to the national interests and the harmony of intercourse. The attendance in both houses was unusually full, and all the members appear to bring health with them. The elections in the House of Representatives were characterised by an unprecedented unanimity, highly flattering, in particular, to the speaker and clerk of the house, whose stations are enviable, but who yet were not opposed. [Nat. Intelligencer.

M. HYDE DE NEUVILLE, the minister of France, has taken up his winter residence in this city. [Ibid.

WM. CRIGHTON, formerly a Representative in Congress, from Ohio, has been elected President of the Branch Bank of the United States at Chilicothe. [Ibid.

INTERNAL RESOURCES.

Among the numerous productions to which the soil and climate of North Carolina are favorable, it is found that the sugar cane may now be added. Several fine stalks, raised in Brunswick county, not far from Wilmington, are now in the possession of colonel Wm. Polk, of this city. They are from seven to eight feet in height, and although considerably dried, remain about two inches in diameter. The present is the second year of the experiment, only a few plantings having been at first obtained; but the enterprising gentleman who has made the attempt, calculates on making sugar his staple crop for the approaching year. The stalks that I have seen are certainly very luxuriant; and I have understood from gentlemen acquainted with the culture and growth of the article that there can be no doubt of its complete success in the lower parts of the state. [Raleigh Minerva.

Charleston, Nov. 27.

A company of United States' troops embarked yesterday on board the schr. Patsy, and sailed for St. Mary's. This is a part of the force mentioned in our paper of Monday last, as having been ordered to rendezvous at Point Petre. Col. Bankhead, who will take command of the corps when assembled, also embarked in the Patsy.

Savannah, November 24.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in M'Intosh county to another in this city, dated 17th instant.

"The fever, that has been so prevalent among us this summer, has proved more fatal to the inhabitants of this state, particularly to this county, being thinly settled, than the oldest settler can call to his recollection."

SHIPWRECK AND PIRACY.

Captain Dorr, of the brig Ontario, from Canton, who arrived at Holmes' Hole, reports, that on the 11th instant, in lat. 29, long. 59, 26, he boarded the wreck of the schooner Dasher, of Argyle, laden with lumber. Her rudder was gone, and both masts by the board. He found in the cabin, written with chalk, the facts, that she was wrecked on the 9th, and that the captain and mate were taken off by the brig Fortitude.

On the same day captain Dorr was decoyed within reach of a pirate schooner of about 200 tons, under bare poles, with colors flying. When he had approached sufficiently near for their purpose, they set sail, hauled down their colors, hoisted a black and white one in its room, and gave chase. They at length came up with the Ontario, "and sent on board fourteen or fifteen savage looking villains, armed with pistols and cutlasses, calling themselves patriots, who drove the rest of the crew into the forecastle, and commenced plundering the ship, unbent her jib and entered the forecastle, and stripped the hands of their clothing, leaving some of them totally destitute. They also entered the cabin and broke open chests and trunks of the officers, and took most of their clothing, and many other articles belonging to them. The captain remonstrated against their conduct, but was silenced with pistols and daggers presented to his breast. After carrying off one boat-load of plunder, a signal was given on board their vessel, when they withdrew, to our inexpressible joy. They appeared to be 'patriots' of all nations; and, we are sorry to say, some were known to be American patriots."

The schooner was armed with 4 long 18 pounders, and 55 men.

Extract of a letter from an officer in the 6th regt. U. S. infantry, to the editors of the Hartford Mercury, dated Plattsburg, (N. Y.) Nov. 11.

A very excellent military road has been commenced by this regiment, intended to meet the Chataugua Four Corners, a distance of forty-five miles; and about eight miles have been made by about two hundred and fifty men, through a very low and wet section of country, and in the space of about eight weeks. It is believed it will be completed the whole distance at the expense of the U. States, and in the result of any war against the Canadas, will greatly facilitate any military operations, and diminish the cost of transportation in the ratio of seventy-five per cent. Another and more lasting advantage will result from it, by affording to settlers, from the northern part of New England, an easier access to a very good country, ensuring to our St Lawrence frontier, a hardy, brave, and enterprising population, a most powerful defence in case of a sudden attack.

A strong and permanent work is erecting at Ronsis point, the outlet of Champlain, and it is, I believe, contemplated by government to erect a second at a point on the St. Lawrence. These two would essentially interrupt any naval enterprises of our anglo-Canadian neighbors in the directions of Ontario and Champlain. The military road, you see, must also be a very necessary appendage to them, independant of other military objects.

The President, who, you know, is a military man, knows how necessary it is to secure our frontier by the establishment of fortresses at assailable points, and after visiting this, could not have been much astonished at want of success in many of the operations here during the late war, considering of how much importance they are in masking and covering all great and regular places.

Your governor, I perceive, calls the attention of the legislature to a consideration of eminent services rendered by its citizens in the late war. I have no doubt it will publicly express itself on so interesting a subject in a manner highly honorable to it. What a contrast will be exhibited now in this, and the conduct of that, which could throw every obstacle in the way of their government at a very interesting period of our history, set itself down to war with recruiting serjeants.

Norfolk, Nov. 28.

The ship Atlas, Capt. Jennison, 46 days from Havre-de-Grace, bound to Alexandria, anchored in Hampton Roads on Wednesday evening. Capt. Jennison who came up to town in a pilot-boat, states, that he is the bearer of despatches for the French minister at Washington, and has on board several French passengers of great respectability, as well as several Americans. The cargo of the Atlas consists of plaister of Paris, and some of the furniture for the Palace at Washington, which, we learn, constituted a part of the cargo of several other vessels about to sail from Havre for the United States. [How mortifying to think that there could not be found in our own country Mechanics of adequate skill and taste for all the purposes of Republican Court Equipage.] The Atlas, we learn, brings an accession to the library of the sage of Monticello—rare works, no doubt, intended to furnish some new lights of science, in aid of the benevolent and patriotic pursuits to which his attention has recently been directed.

Capt. J. states, that the subject of the New Pretender to the Throne of France, (claiming to be the legitimate Son of Louis XVI.) occupied much of the public attention at Havre, and created considerable speculation among politicians.—Tho' still kept in confinement at Rouen, he received all those marks of attention which pretensions of doubtful validity would naturally command from those whose interests might be immediately affected by their establishment or rejection. We refer our readers to an interesting letter on this subject, in an adjoining column.

FROM INDIA.

Captain White, of the Palladium, has politely favored us, says the Salem Gazette, with copious files of Calcutta papers, down to July last; which though they do not afford much news, may yet furnish many articles, whose interest does not depend upon dates. They contain accounts of the cruel and predatory irruptions of the Pindairies, who descending from the Ghauts, spread terror and desolation in their course. They are represented as carrying their cruelties so far as to bear off children on the points of their pikes. Ganjam they had reduced to ashes.—Accounts are also mentioned of the formidable state of the Pirates in the Red Sea, the last year.

The first meeting of the managing committee of the Hindoo College, took place 4th Dec. last, at which were appointed a European Secretary and Superintendant, a Native Assistant Secretary and Superintendant, a Chief Teacher in the English department, a teacher of Persian, and three European Monitors for the English department. The numbers of scholars limited, the first year, to 100. The college was opened on the 20th of January. All the scholars assembled were twenty.—On the 21st Feb. was held the 6th anniversary meeting of the Calcutta Auxiliary Bible Society, when Sir Edward Hyde East was elected an additional Vice President, Eneas Mackintosh, Esq. Treasurer, Commodore Hayes, Col. Hardwicke, Gen. Wood, J. Baretto, W. Bailey, Colvin. Cruttenden, Forbes, Larkins, Macwhirter, Plowden, Salmon, Saunders and Sherer, Esquires, members. An association has recently been formed in Calcutta, called the Calcutta School Book Society, whose object is to provide gratuitously such works as are useful in schools, and in the first instance suitable books of instruction, for the use of native schools in the several languages (English as well as Asiatic) which are or may be taught in the provinces subject to the presidency of Fort William. The Provisional Committee consists of 11 English and 6 Native members.

The seizure of the Cutter Dispatch seems to have excited a high degree of interest among the Calcutta Merchants. On the 4th February, after a full hearing in the Supreme court, in its admiralty jurisdiction, before a very crowded assemblage, their Lordships gave an unanimous opinion that the seizure was illegal, on the grounds of the law, requiring in certain cases plantation bonds to be entered into, not extending to that country. In honor of the eloquent Advocates (R. C. Ferguson and H. Compton, Esquires) to whose splendid exertions the commercial world were so highly indebted in the great and important occasion of the trial, as to the Dispatch," a splendid entertainment was given on the evening of the 22d, for which nearly three hundred cards of invitation were issued: and sumptuous vases of Gold, of the value of 8000 siccas each, were making, to be presented to these gentlemen, "As a lasting memorial of the admiration and gratitude of the commercial community."

CATHOLICS IN IRELAND.

Mr. Newenham, in his view of the state of Ireland, represents the proportional increase of the catholic population there as much greater than that of the protestants—the reasons whereof are assigned by the Edinburgh reviewers, in the following paragraph.

"The endeavours which were used in former times to banish the Roman Catholics from the towns, had the effect to render the rural population chiefly catholic: and it is upon this part of the people, consisting of the poorest in Ireland, that the peculiar facility of increase, occasioned by the use of potatoes, has naturally operated with the greatest force. Wherever the protestants are situated, whether in the towns, where they are principally to be found, or in the country, they uniformly seem to consider themselves as persons belonging to a class in the community superior to that of the lower order of the catholics. Even the linen weavers of the North, who are probably among the poorest of the protestants, earn, according to Mr. Young, about double the wages of the labourers in husbandry, and feel so much of the pride belonging to a superior condition, that they have generally preferred emigration, to being reduced much below their usual rank in society, although there might be little chance of their wanting subsistence for their families. But the humiliated catholic, with no rank in society to support, has sought only these means of subsistence; and finding without much difficulty, potatoes, milk, and a hovel, he has vegetated in the country of his ancestors, and overspread the land with his descendants.

"If to this consideration" (continue the Reviewers) "we add a circumstance, in which all writers seem to agree, that of the great encouragement given to the marriages of the catholic poor by the parish priest, on account of his deriving a very considerable part of his revenue from them, we shall see no reason to be surprised at the increasing proportion of the catholics to the protestants."

On the subject of the education of the catholic poor, Mr. Newenham has asserted that, in points of literary attainments, they are far above the level of the same classes in England; that in the dioceses of Cloyne and Ross alone, there are no less than 316 parochial schools kept by catholics, and that they are attended, during the summer, by 21,892 scholars. And further, that the protestant schools in Ireland, with all the aid which they have received from government, seem to be by no means in a flourishing state: and the scholars which attend them do not equal, by 6000, the number that attend the catholic schools in the diocese of Cloyne and Ross alone.

This increased attention to education among the lower classes of the Irish, Mr. Newenham attributes to the care and industry of the Catholic Clergy.

So true is it, that persecution seldom fails to increase the persecuted sect. Had the British Government, one century ago, granted free toleration and equal privileges to the Irish catholics, their number at the present time would in all probability have been less than half what it is.

DISTRESSING SHIPWRECK.

Extract from the Log Book of the ship Justina, Captain Toombs, arrived at this port last evening from N York.

Wednesday 19th November, 1817, at 7 in the morning, running along the N. Carolina shore, between Currituck and Roanoke inlets,—saw a ship on shore with her top-sails and courses partly clewed up—We then kept close in to see if any signal for assistance was made—saw the sea breaking over the ship and no signal; but saw a number of people on shore, near the wreck, which induced the belief that a part of the crew and passengers had been put on shore, as there were only four people to be seen on board the ship. We had passed the wreck but a little while before we saw a boat ahead of us, about five miles from the wreck—soon came up with her and took the men on board. They proved to be part of the crew of the ship on shore, who had been ordered to lay by her to take the rest of the crew out; but having a keg of gin in the boat and having made too free use of it—they drifted from the ship, and was not able to get back to her. We learned from them that the ship on shore was the Voucher, Captain Howland, from New-York bound to Charleston—They also informed us that the long boat had gone to leeward, to endeavor to land some of the passengers—We filled away immediately in hopes of finding them.—After running five miles further, saw the boat—stood for her and soon came up to her; and took from on board six ladies, four children, all girls, and five gentlemen, passengers, with the chief mate, two men & a boy belonging to the Voucher—nineteen in number. After getting them all safe on board, we requested the mate to return to the wreck and try to save those on board. The mate was willing to go; but the seamen refused. We then took in the boat and proceeded on our voyage. Captain Toombs is of opinion, that those left on the wreck would be saved, as he observed many persons on the shore making preparations to assist them. The passengers did not save a single article, not even their wearing apparel.

Names of passengers taken on board the Justina:

Mr. Ludlow and lady, Mr. Fitch and lady, Mr. Smith, lady, 3 children & servant, Miss Rose, Mrs. Ingelsby, son and daughter, J. Rose, mate and 5 sailors.

Persons left on board the Voucher:

Persons left on board the Voucher:

Mr. Gilbert, passenger, Captain Howland, three sailors, steward and boy.

Since the above was in type we have been politely furnished with the following additional particulars:—

Sailed from New-York on Sunday afternoon, 16th Nov. in the ship Voucher, H. Howland, master, bound for Charleston, with a full cargo of merchandize and the following passengers:—Mr. William Smith, lady, 3 children and nurse, Mr. Fitch and lady, Mr. Rose & sister, Mr. Gilbert, Mr. Ludlow & lady, of Charleston, and Mrs. Inglisby, son and daughter, of New-York. On Wednesday morning following, about 3 o'clock, the ship going 10 knots, struck and soon after bilged; got the boat out and all the passengers, except Mr. Gilbert, were put in the long boat, with the mate. 3 men and a boy—then pulled away for the land, which appeared to be about two miles off—afterwards concluded it best to wait for day-light to find a safe place to land: when day broke we plainly saw the land and pulled the boat along shore for some time, but could not find an inlet, and the surf made it too dangerous to attempt landing outside—while lying off and on for the surf to subside, saw a sail standing for us, and at 10 o'clock got on board of her—she proved to be the ship Justina, captain Tombs, from New-York, bound for Savannah. She had picked up the jolly boat with 3 men, who were ordered to lay by the wreck and take off the captain and those left on board of her. They informed us that they had drifted from the wreck, and could not pull the boat up to her. On the wreck was left capt. Howland, the steward, 2 men, a boy, and Mr. Gilbert, who we expected would have got into the jolly boat. Captain Tombs informed us, that when he passed the wreck the sea was breaking all over her stern, and he could see several persons on the beach, and has every reason to hope that those left on the wreck were saved. He would have sent his own boat to the wreck, but as there was no signal set on board of her, he concluded there was no necessity for it, as he supposed that the people on the beach were the passengers and crew landing.

The passengers of the Voucher tender their grateful thanks to captain Tombs, of the Justina, for his kindness and attention in relieving them from their distress, and furnishing them with every article that his ship afforded, and in conducting them in safety to this port. His generosity and kindness will never be effaced from their memory.

He is about 23 or 24 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, and was raised in Manchester. Ned is well made, high forehead and large flat nose: had on when he went away a grey coat and pantaloons, but as he was well provided with cloathing of various kinds, it is probable he may have changed his dress. It is believed he went off with his wife, who it appears left Richmond at the same time: she is very black, and, I believe, somewhat pitted with the small pox, talks a great deal, of short stature, and rather thick made. Ned is very artful, and may probably attempt to pass for a free man; he has a down look when spoken to. John Jackson & Co.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face blosted and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stege of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of b'ood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric'l affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
